

Nothing Indefinite or Doubtful in Decision in Indian Creek Water Case

Pollution by Mine Drainage a Nuisance Which Must Be Abated.

ORDERS ARE SPECIFIC

Fayette County Court Must Issue Decree Restraining All Defendants; Difference of View as to Character of Assistance from Plaintiff.

The very definite and inclusive character of the injunction the Court of Fayette County is directed by the State Supreme Court to issue in pursuance of the latter's decision in the Mountain Water Case, is shown by the text of the concluding paragraph of the decision.

Although the complete text of the decision is not yet available here, the Courier has received through the United Press that portion of it which states the conclusion of the court which makes final disposition of the eight separate equity suits brought by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Mountain Water Supply Company, the Dunbar Water Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Westmoreland Water Supply Company against the Sagamore Coal Company, the McIntire Coal Company, the Onondaga Coal Mining Company and other coal companies operating in the Indian Creek Valley.

This portion of the decision sets forth very clearly the opinion of the court that the drainage of mine water into Indian Creek "constitutes a nuisance which must be restrained;" that the public has an interest in the business of coal mining, and that the plaintiffs must cooperate with the defendants in abating the nuisance, which must be done within six months from date of the decree. The full text of the court's conclusions follows:

"Our conclusion is that the defendants have no right of any kind to drain their mine waters into the stream, considering the public use which is made of its waters, and that they are doing so constitutes a nuisance which must be restrained.

"We recognize, however, as ordinarily the court below also did, that the public has an indirect interest in the business of the defendants, and, hence, applying the principle that he who seeks equity must do equity, the decrees to be entered should require plaintiffs (other than the Commonwealth) to do as much for the public as the defendants are doing for themselves, and to do so as to minimize the expense of an equitable abatement. In fairness to plaintiffs it should be stated that their counsel, in oral argument at bar of the court, expressed the willingness of their clients to thus cooperate with the defendants.

"The decrees of the court below, mandating plaintiffs several bills of complaint are reversed, and it is decreed that the court below shall enter decrees, enjoining and restraining defendants, and each of them, from discharging, pumping or causing or permitting to flow or to be discharged, any drainage of mine waters from their mines, and from the mines of each of them, into the waters of Indian Creek, or into the waters of any of the tributaries thereof, above the point of the Mountain Water Supply Company, after the expiration of six months from the date of the entry of the decrees. It is further decreed that the defendants shall pay the costs."

Personal of the foregoing portion of the Supreme Court's decision will set at rest all doubt as to its meaning. Continued on Page Two.

BRYAN IN UNUSUAL ROLE IN HIS LONG CAMPAIGN CAREER

On the Defensive in Explaining Why He Is for Davis After Denouncing Him.

ENTHUSIASM DISCOUNTED

In the West Where Many Former Admirers do not Respond Very Heartily to His Pleas for Ticket of Which "Brother Charles" Is Part.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by The Daily Courier.

ENROUTE TO SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2.—William Jennings Bryan, America's oldest political campaigner, who was running for the Presidency 28 years ago when the men now in power were still youths, is making a tour of the West, and it is making what may be his last active campaign. With characteristic vigor the campaigner is traveling the west he knows so well, and giving to John W. Davis an enthusiastic support which permits of no reservation or doubt.

Mr. Bryan is speaking to enormous crowds. His powerful voice, his eloquence, his dynamic personality, are still as fascinating as they were years ago. He is the symbol of democracy in this part of America and it is not devoid even by the Republicans that he has made voters for Davis. At least he has kept many wavering ones from going to La Follette.

It's about the same speech every day but it has a telling effect for as usual there are kindly words for an opponent, no assault on character but a scathing denunciation of what seems to him to be the erroneous philosophy of his opponent.

"La Follette hasn't a chance in the electoral college," explains Mr. Bryan. "He has only a remote chance in the House. Your only way to beat Calvin Coolidge is through John W. Davis. I never could see the Republicans around here. I know Mr. Coolidge and like him. He is clean in public and private life of high character and as well meaning as any man who ever occupied the White House. That's his high praise of a Republican by a Democrat. I'll go further and let any Republican go through the dictionary and pick out the best adjectives from A to Z and I'll agree with all Mr. Coolidge if I can add just five words, 'but he is a reactionary.'"

"Mr. Davis is just as fine a man."

SHACKLED GIRL ESCAPES FROM JUNIOR REPUBLIC

By United Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Shackled about her ankles with stout metal bands, connected by a steel chain about one foot long, Madeleine Stanton, 15, of Astoria, Ore., a hobnobbing socialite, escaped from the Junior Republic Thursday and told a night lieutenant of her escape from the George Junior Republic at Freeville.

The girl said she had been maltreated at the institution and escaped on Wednesday night by lying headfirst under a board and climbing down the improvised rope from a second-story window.

The Stanton girl said she had gone into the George Junior Republic willingly at the suggestion of her guardian to finish her high school studies and prepare for college. She said she had been loaded down with homework and when she refused to accept any more arduous tasks the housekeeper shackled her and sent her to solitary confinement.

The chilly wind which penetrated those not wearing top coats yesterday was not so pronounced this morning and the forecast today predicted slightly warmer weather tonight and Friday.

Capstan Lets Contract for Plant Addition

The Capstan Glass Company of Connellsville has awarded the contract for the erection of three new buildings at its plant, construction to be completed within 120 working days. The Austin Company of Cleveland, Ohio, was given the contract and will begin on Monday, October 6.

The month and machine shop will be a structure 60 by 100 feet. The furnace building will be 95 by 120 feet and the structure for the packing and shipping departments and general offices will be 120 by 100 feet.

The furnace building will be constructed of steel. The other buildings will be of brick and concrete and factory sash. The additions will increase the capacity of the plant about 50 per cent.

When the contracts have been completed Capstan Glass will offer employment to 200 additional men and become one of the leading industries in the region. Already, 400 persons are employed there. The addition of 200 more will mean considerable to this end of the county and especially South Connellsville.

Some other changes are being contemplated, but none of them have been announced. The company is considering some changes in its railroad siding but no definite conclusions have been reached.

The action of the Capstan Glass Company in increasing its plant here is taken to mean the organization believes in the future of this community. Another factor is the admirable railroad facilities.

The Weather

Slightly warmer tonight and Friday is the noon weather forecast for Western Pennsylvania.

PINCHOT MAKES WARM REPLY TO CLEMENT LETTER

HAARLEM, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Samuel M. Pinchot, Jr., of Philadelphia, was notified yesterday by Governor Gifford Pinchot that his resignation as a member of the Public Service Commission, to which he was appointed February 11, 1919, had been accepted and had anticipated only by a few hours a request for his resignation on the ground that he had failed to attend to his duties. The Governor's letter called Mr. Pinchot's action a "separation" in which he felt a "keen sense of satisfaction" and he regarded it as an immediate severance of official relations.

"The records of the commission show," the Governor wrote, "that since June 1, 1923, you have attended 25 and have been absent from 111 of the 135 executive sessions of the commission, at which its decisions are reached. You have attended barely one-third of the arguments before the full commission, and generally you have allowed your share of the duties of the commission to fall on other shoulders. It was because of your gross neglect of duty that I proposed to bring about your separation from the commission. Your letter quotes your oath of office: 'I will discharge the duties of my office with fidelity.' The record discloses how you have kept it. There is nothing further in your letter which merits a reply."

GREENSBURG, Oct. 2.—Today Adam Schwerha, the McKeesport undertaker who has been before the courts for the past four years as the result of his accidental running down and killing a young school teacher of the North High School, near Irwin, April 19, 1920, left the Westmoreland county jail a free man. The total costs are $1,197.88.

Civil actions are still pending. These actions to secure an aggregate of $15,000 damages have been brought by relatives of Miss Margaret McGrath, who had her neck broken and later died as the result of the accident, by relatives of Miss Alma Seaton, one of the injured, and by relatives of the third member of the party who sustained minor injuries.

Herbert Man Dies Of Bullet Wounds

Julius Starker of Herbert died at the Uniontown Hospital Wednesday evening from gunshot wounds in the abdomen. At a post mortem held by Coroner S. A. Two powder burns on the shirt gave indications that the shots were fired at close range.

The man lived in bachelor quarters. A revolver with six empty chambers was found lying on the floor about four feet from the wounded man when the state police arrived in answer to a call.

HAILED AS END OF WAR

United States Will Be Invited to Send Representatives to Parley at Swiss Capital Next Summer; Agreement Contains Preamble and 21 Clauses.

By United Press.
GENEVA, Oct. 2.—The assembly of the League of Nations, in which 47 nations were represented, unanimously adopted the disarmament protocol today.

Speakers for all the leading powers pledged their support of the project which it comes up for ratification by governments.

Many hailed the protocol as bringing an end to war.

In adopting the protocol the assembly summoned a reduction of armament conference to meet at Geneva next June. The United States will be invited to send representatives.

What is officially known as "the protocol for pacific settlement of international disputes" is a document containing a preamble of 21 clauses. The preamble sets forth that one of its purposes is the realization of the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety, and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.

The most important clauses are those which interpret and strengthen the League of Nations covenant, provide a system for the fixing of an aggressor state, and machinery for the arbitration of all and any disputes which may arise, thus paving the way to what former Premier Brand, in his speech yesterday called "making war on war."

Article II says: "The signatory states agree in no case to resort to war, either with one another or against a state which, if occasion arises, accepts all the obligations hereafter set out, except in case of resistance to acts of aggression or when acting in agreement with the council or assembly of the League of Nations."

Article III commits the signatories to the acceptance of the compulsory arbitration clause of the world court. Reservations are permitted, but accession must be given within a month after the protocol enters into force.

Article IV on arbitration completes the provisions of article IV. In part it reads:

"If a dispute submitted to the council is not settled by it as provided in paragraph III, article IV, the council shall endeavor to persuade the parties to submit the dispute to judicial settlement or arbitration. If the parties cannot agree to do so, they shall, at the request of at least one of the parties, be constituted a committee of arbitration. This committee shall, so far as possible, be constituted by agreement between the parties."

"If within the period fixed by the council the parties have failed to agree, in whole or in part, upon the number of members and powers of the arbitrators, and upon the procedure, the council shall settle the point in dispute. It will, with the utmost possible dispatch, select, in consultation with the parties, the arbitrators and their president from among persons who, by their nationality, their personal character and experience appear to furnish the highest guarantees of competence and impartiality."

There are seven other litters of larger size in the county.

intent and requirements which are that the waters of Indian Creek and its tributaries cannot be polluted by man's waste. It does not, however, make plain to what extent or in what specific way the defendants must cooperate with the plaintiffs in abating the nuisance. Several interpretations can be made of the decision in the decision which says the plaintiffs are to be required to afford defendants opportunity to transport and dispose of the mine water of their mines in such a way as shall minimize the expense of so doing. Whether this means the water company, which with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will share with the local companies in the expense of keeping the water from interfering with the waters of Indian Creek, or merely "cooperate" in the matter, is not apparent from the decision.

It is recalled by persons closely connected with the development of the Indian Creek Valley that upon occasion of his visits there General Superintendent W. A. McCabe of the Pennsylvania Water Supply Company and other water supply organizations of the valley out of business. He gave it as his opinion that material assistance would be given when the time came to take measures for effectively preventing the pollution of the stream which is the chief concern of the interest he represented. McCabe also said that there was a possibility that the interests associated with the water company would not be adverse to buying the coal land and mines in the Valley provided the could be obtained at a reasonable figure. Whether such a proposition would be considered at this time is not known. At the time Superintendent McCabe is reported to have made this statement, the coal industry of the Valley was only beginning to assume proportions.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Really and quickly effective.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "cough medicine," you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of honey, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and breaks the sore, irritated membrane to grow again and finally it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated extract and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

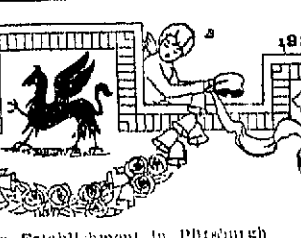

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept any other kind of Pinex. It is absolutely satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The W. N. LECHÉ CO., St. Louis, Mo.

DUPLEX—a new name —for a new type car you have never seen before!

A closed and open car combined—the advantages of both at an open car price!

STANDARD SIX DUPLEX-PHAETON

$1145

No other car in its price-range has this combination of features:

New Duplex Body. Real Balloon Tires. Inclined valve engine. Crankshaft and connecting rods maintained on all surfaces for vibrationless balance. Genuine chrome plated Special leather. All the usual equipment—plus a high grade clock, a dash gas gauge, automatic windshield wiper and lighting switch on steering wheel.

New Studebaker 4-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes—optional equipment. Automatic braking power.

ONE minute the DUPLEX is a comfortable, weather-tight closed car—deeply cushioned and richly appointed. In less than thirty seconds it becomes a delightful open car, with all the unhampered freedom every motorist likes and enjoys. Its double utility satisfied a most urgent need—it is a revolutionary car as the self-starter and electric lights.

And the price is the same as that of the open car—with advantages in finish, fittings, room and comfort no open car could ever give!

Framed and shaped in steel, the upper part of the Duplex Body is built integrally with the lower part—it functions perfectly with the lower part—it is permanently beautiful. But even without the "double-value" of the Duplex Body the new Standard Six would still be the same great Studebaker success. For its introduction marks the beginning of an era in the automobile industry when fine cars of real quality, plenty of room and comfort, impressive appearance, upland power and performance may be had at a price the average buyer can afford to pay.

Surpassing mechanical superiority is obvious in every mile you drive it. Power, smoothness, silence you expect in any good six-cylinder car; but in this great car your expectations will be exceeded. You cannot anticipate such performance-perfection in any car even within hundreds of dollars of the new Studebaker Standard Six price.

The proof is easy to establish—drive it yourself, try it out on your favorite hill, test its speed on the straight-away. Same what "ease of operation" really means in terms of effortless steering, valvety clutch action, easy gear shifting and instant brake application.

Experience what real comfort means in plenty of room, soft deep cushions; genuine balloon tires; long, supple springs.

The new Standard Six will tell you a story as it has never told before by any other car at the Standard Six price.

Whether you are in the market now or next year—you should see this new Studebaker. It is a car that will revolutionize values in the automobile industry!

Five Roads to the White House

Richard Walsh in "Woman's Home Companion"

When there is a third party strong enough to carry several states, such as we may have this year, the likelihood is that no candidate will have a majority. Then we have to choose our President and Vice-President by one of the other and less known methods. There are five ways to become President (not counting the way in which "Coolidge got in, by succeeding a President who died or resigned).

1. The usual way is by winning a majority in the Electoral College.
 2. The Electoral College may elect a President of its own choosing, regardless of the popular vote. This is still legal and possible, although it has never been tried since the time of George Washington.
 3. If the Electoral College fails to elect, the House of Representatives may do so. This has occurred twice: in 1801, when Jefferson was chosen over Aaron Burr; and in 1824, when John Quincy Adams was elected, although he had fewer popular and electoral votes than Andrew Jackson. The present House is so divided between parties that it would almost certainly get into a deadlock and elect no one.

4. If the House fails to elect, the Vice-President, who will have been elected by the Senate, becomes President. This is the most likely outcome of the present situation, although it has never happened before. In 1839, no candidate had a majority of electoral votes for Vice-President, and the Senate had to elect one—Richard M. Johnson. In this year, however, the President—Van Buren—had already been elected.

5. If both Senate and House fail to elect before March 4, the Secretary of State becomes President. Under the existing system this is most unlikely. Politicians have to think of everything. In making up their slates for members of the Electoral College, therefore, they have this year done their best to find safe men and women, who can be depended upon not to run their own heads. They do not want electors who might slip off the party collar and decide to choose their own President.

Senator Norris, an authority on the Constitution, says: "Nothing binds a Presidential elector to vote for any particular candidate, save the honor." Points of honor have been waived in the past before this. It might be that a few electors, in one or the other party would try to take things into their own hands. If the popular vote has failed to indicate a majority in the College, it will be known within 48 hours after the election, and many weeks before the meeting of the College. It will also be evident that if the election is thrown into the House and Senate, the so-called radicals will hold the balance of power and will be in a position to dictate terms to either of the old parties. Some of the conservatives among the electors might choose the lesser of two evils (as they interpret evils) and throw their strength to the opposite party rather than give LaFollette and his followers the whip hand.

Such action would be difficult because the College does not meet as a whole. The electors in each state meet in their home state. All meetings are held the same day, and the results of each state vote are sent to the President of the Senate at Washington. Any plot, to depart from precedent and fix up a majority for one candidate or the other in spite of the popular vote, would have to be arranged in advance, and very carefully arranged.

It is a safe guess that the hand-picked members of the Electoral College will not fancy themselves as President-makers. They are not that kind of folks.

And so the election, if there is no majority, will be thrown into the House of Representatives. There it would meet a deadlock, and this deadlock might last indefinitely.

Under the Constitution, the House in electing the President must vote by two-thirds of the members. There are 435 members in the House. To elect a President, therefore, 290 members must vote. The House is divided into 106 districts. Each district elects one member. New York has 28 representatives, has no more power than Nevada with its one member. To be elected, a candidate must have the vote of at least 25 of the 48 states.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats can scrape together a majority of the states. There are five states whose representatives are equally divided between the two parties—Maryland, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire and New Jersey. The other 43 states line up as follows: New Hampshire, 23; Democratic, 32.

Furthermore, of the 23 states listed as Republicans, Wisconsin is controlled by LaFollette, and he has a strong hold on the Minnesota and South Dakota delegations also. If the Republicans showed signs of getting together by winning over some of the evenly divided states, LaFollette could throw his states to the other side, and so preserve the deadlock.

Neither of the two older parties would swing to LaFollette. And, possibly, because the Constitution restricts the choice in the House to the three candidates having the highest votes in the Electoral College, these three will of course be Coolidge, Davis and LaFollette.

The House, therefore, would have a deadlock, and an adjournment on March 4, unless some Democratic states would swing to Coolidge, or some Republican states to Davis in order to keep the Presidency from going by default to the Vice-President.

Meanwhile the Vice-President would be elected by the Senate. For if the Electoral College had failed to give a majority to any candidate for President, it would probably have failed also to elect a Vice-President. In such a case the Constitution puts it up to the Senate.

Here the voting must be done not by states, but by individual Senators. A majority of the 60 or 61, is necessary.

Either Davies or Bryan would probably be elected and would become President on the fourth of March.

AMENDMENT "A"

Of the nine proposed Amendments to the State Constitution, which will be submitted for approval or rejection by the voters at the November election, there are several to which sufficient attention should be given in advance in order that voters may know how to serve the best interests of the state and its people when marking that section of their ballots relating to the Amendments.

Amendment "A" very properly belongs to that group which is deserving of very serious consideration by voters. Its purpose is to authorize the State of Pennsylvania to issue bonds to the amount of $5,000,000 for the erection and equipment at the Pennsylvania State College of buildings necessary for the use and purposes of the institution as defined by its charter.

WISE COAL BUYERS WILL ACCUMULATE SURPLUS STOCK NOW

An Aftermath of Present Inactivity Will Inevitably Come.

THEN PRICES WILL SOAR

A perusal of the market columns in recent weeks, coupled with a study of the market situation as regards supply and demand in the various producing and consuming centers of the country, will lead one to the inevitable conclusion that present quotations on steam coals are bargains. Bargains in coal have been the usual rule in years past, because in every fall and winter season the production of the fine sizes exceeds current consumption. In a sense, these prices in the past have not been real bargains, as the operation of the law of supply and demand was the controlling factor. On that basis, the coal was bringing only what it was worth.

Right now, while prices are not quite so low as they have usually been in previous years, they seem to be real bargains, in that there can be found nothing in the same law of supply and demand to justify them. A bargain, as we understand the term, is an article or a commodity sold at less than its intrinsic worth. Intrinsic worth, in turn, is the value of an article or commodity as gauged by supply and demand. When demand is equal to or greater than supply, goods are sold at a profit, and the price, including the profit, represents the intrinsic worth of the article in the world of trade. Goods sold at actual cost or at below cost constitute a real bargain.

Such is the actual condition in the coal industry today, practically as regards bituminous steam coal. In nearly every market, such coal is being sold at twenty-five to fifty per cent less than the cost of production. Only a coal oversupply would justify such prices, and no such oversupply exists. An examination of the facts in regard to available supply is illuminating.

On April 1 of this year it was estimated that there were above ground some 70,000,000 tons of soft coal presumably mostly of steam sizes. In the six months that have elapsed between that date and the present our consumption of coal has been so far in excess of production that we now have an available supply of coal above ground of about 30,000,000 tons. In this connection it must be remembered that, over a several year average, the country has consumed and exported an average of 10,000,000 tons per week. An appreciable volume of the present surplus must in view of recent activity in domestic coals, be of those sizes and varieties intended for domestic consumption. Apparently, therefore, there is a quantity of steam coal above ground today of not to exceed 25,000,000 tons.

Economists of the government have frequently made the statement that normal conditions in the coal industry hinge on a surplus of 30,000,000 tons. That is to say, whenever the surplus greatly exceeds this figure the market is glutted; whenever it falls below it, a condition of shortage exists. If such is the case a shortage now exists and that in the face of a rapidly approaching winter and the impending overloading of the transportation system of the country by the movement of the fall crops. If this reasoning is correct, even approximately, present prices are bargains.

An examination of current conditions in the various markets and producing fields bears out the above. At no point does a real surplus of coal seem to exist. In the west a surplus is always indicated by great quantities of coal held in cars at the mines waiting for billing, and by huge volumes of coal stored on the ground. These factors can not be found today. "No-bill" coal is far less in quantity than is usual and practically none has as yet been piled in permanent storage. Further than that, stocks in the hands of industrialists are known to be much lighter than has always been the case on the last of September.

In the east, mine and market conditions are practically a duplicate of those to be found in the west. At no point is any volume of unsold coal to be found. Manufacturing consumers have been following a hand-to-mouth policy in buying for many months and are known to be lightly stocked with coal. In short, no surplus exists.

Then why, one may ask, are prices now low? The answer, we believe is almost wholly one of psychology. Every year at this time prices have descended to uneconomic depths, therefore such must happen again this year. Not only has this psychology worked in the minds of the buyers to cause them to hold out for lower prices, but it has also operated to induce the producers to accept figures which cut a loss.

An aftermath is inevitable. Some day these manufacturers are going to be compelled to fill up their storage stocks. Some day vast numbers of buying units are going to find themselves in the market at the same time. When that day comes current production is going to be wholly inadequate to supply the demand—and then watch prices. We have no hesitancy in saying that, when all existing circumstances are taken into consideration, present prices on bituminous steam coals are bargains. The wise buyer will accumulate surplus stocks now.

More Furnaces in Blast at Youngstown

Carnegie Steel Company has blown in its No. 4 blast furnace at the Ohio works and is planning to resume its No. 4 blast furnace at Ohio works and is planning to resume its No. 2 stack very shortly. The lighting of these two stacks will bring the total in the district to 20 of the 45, or about 45 per cent of capacity. Sheet & Tube will soon blow in its East Youngstown furnace.

The A. M. Byers Company, Girard, will blow in its stack about October 20, it is reported. The stack, like that of Sheet & Tube, is undergoing repairs. Although the Struthers Furnace Company is said to have been after coke, it will not blow in its blast furnace for some time. The company has a large stock of iron still piled in their yards.

practiced law together in London. We enjoy visiting each other and we wish each other everything but votes. But Dawson is more reactionary than Coolidge, if such a thing is possible. They are in perfect accord. Dawson is a politician while Coolidge is a statesman. Dawson says what Coolidge thinks.

"I've known La Follette for 30 years. I know Bob is progressive and can prove it by his record. I know Wheel-er too. He was originally a Republi- can but came into the Democratic ranks during my 1896 campaign and stayed there. He is still a Democrat and doesn't deny it although running on another ticket.

"Mr. Davis is well qualified for the Presidency as any man who ever ran. He has had greater experience than any other herring Jefferson. There is no greater lawyer in the country. He has been president of the American Bar Association; solicitor general for five years—and we never had a better one for law en- forcement—and he represented us at the court of St. James. He is a better candidate than I ever was. He is 14 years older and has that much more experience than I had when I started running for the Presidency.

"Why did I oppose him? It was not because of what he said or did. I opposed him but only on ac- count of the positions which he had held and my fear that the presumption which rested on his legal relationships would handicap us in the campaign. I feared the Republican papers would attack because of his clients and try them in the campaign. Now they are doing that, criticizing his clients—not him.

"They don't tell you that he was a country lawyer 24 years and a cor- poration lawyer only three or that he was on the people's side five years and on the corporation's side only three. Was he corrupted? I never said he was. I had no knowledge of his views. I know them now, for I have talked with him and I know he was never corrupted. He came through fire with no smell of smoke. I talked to him and I know he was a progres- sive when I came away. At heart he is with the people and can be trusted by the people.

And so the speech runs, with a modest reference now and then to the brother, Governor Bryan, and his business ability. "He was not nominated for the vice-presidency," remarks the Commoner, "because he is my brother. Mr. Davis wanted a running mate from the agricultural west, a progressive and a dry and Governor Bryan is all of them."

There have been campaigns like 1916 when the former Secretary of State, crusading for peace, could arouse intense emotion in the west. He was most effective then. He is still the idol of thousands of Demo- crats who think of him as a good Christian with a greater morality than the average political leader. But there is no doubt that the west is con- siderable to some extent the Commoner's enthusiasm because he has a brother on the ticket and because he did op- pose the nomination of Davis. At any rate William Jennings Bryan is on the defensive which has not been his usual role in the past. But let no one misunderstand—William Jennings Bryan is giving a wholehearted 100 per cent support to John W. Davis.

Men! Don't Come Home Fagged Out by Hard Work

DOCTORS say that in an enormous number of cases when men come home physically and mentally "all in," nervous and cranky, the real cause is not hard work, but thin, pale, watery blood, deficient in strength-giving iron. Once this iron is restored to the blood it is often astonishing how quickly these men gain new strength, nerve force and endurance.

But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned cheap iron pills made by the action of powerful acids on ordinary mineral iron. Nuxated Iron is a natural iron from the iron in your own blood, and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure teeth nor disturb the stomach. So remarkable are the effects of Nuxated Iron that thousands of weak, nerv- ous, fagged out men and women have often increased their strength, energy, and endurance in only two weeks' time. Try Nuxated Iron just two weeks. Money back if not delighted. But make certain you get genuine guaran- teed Nuxated Iron tablets with the let- ters N. I. on every tablet. At all good druggists.—Advertisement.

SHINING UP THE OLD FARMSTEAD

STATIS COLLEGE, Oct. 2.—Rural Pennsylvania is "solidifying up." Not to be outdone by the marshaling of state highways with beautiful flowers and shrubbery, the expansion of city parks and playgrounds and other improvements to make Pennsylvania the most attractive state of all. Governor Koser and his wife are planning to improve the appearance of their place and make the more worth while "down on the farm." They are doing it with the aid of the free services of a landscape architect, specialists added last summer to the agricultural extension staff of Pennsylvania State College. He is Professor J. R. YOUR QUESTION AND ITS ANSWER

QUESTION—"I would like to ask this question after examining my spine, can you tell positively whether adjustments will benefit me?"

ANSWER—An examination and spinal analysis will not only enable us to locate the true cause of your illness, but it will enable us to give you a sane, logical, easily proven conclusion as to what results you may expect from adjustments. There is nothing of the element of guess-work in the practice of Chiropractic. We are not hampered with faulty diagnosis, nor the element of doubt in finding a remedy. We recognize disease as having one primary cause. We use but one remedy. We know that if the cause is corrected with Spinal Adjustments, the patient will get well. Therefore the answer to your question is YES.

This department is edited to spread a better knowledge of Chiropractic as a positive method of correcting the cause of sickness. Inquiries will be an award, in the order received if addressed to:

The Paramount

"RIDE FOR YOUR LIFE"—After playing a southern mountaineer for several weeks in "The Night Message," the Poorly Poore Sheehan production filmed at Universal City, Howard Truesdell changed his characterization to that of a western pioneer in Hoot Gibson's new starring feature, "Ride For Your Life," which will be shown at the Paramount Theatre tonight.

This is Truesdell's second appearance in a Gibson film within the last few months. His characterization of the irascible dad of the hero in "Out of Luck" was considered an outstanding piece of acting.

Gibson's new picture is a story of the early days in California when gold mining was the leading mode of adventure. It is an adaptation by Raymond L. Schrock of a magazine story by Johnson McCullough.

The theme of the story is woven around an easy-dispositioned young cowboy who is rebuked by a pretty girl who tells him that she'd rather have a bandit for a husband than a lad of his temperament. The youth plays bandit in response to the girl's whim.

Laura La Plante, recently made a star by Universal, plays the romantic leading role. Edward Sedgwick, director of "The Rambler Kid," and other big Gibson productions, handled the megaphone.

Friday and Saturday, "A Fighting Heart."

The Soisson

"WHY MEN LEAVE HOME"—A First National picture produced by John M. Stahl and personally directed by him, from Avery Hopwood's famous stage success, is announced as next week's feature at the Soisson Theatre. It is enacted by an exceptionally brilliant cast, including Lewis Stone, Helene Chadwick, Alma Bennett, Mary Carr, William V. Mong, Hedda Hopper, Sidney Bracey, Ella Leslie, E. H. Calvert and Howard Truesdell, all of whom are extremely popular with the movie lovers of the nation.

Stahl, who is noted for his gripping dramas of domestic life and whose personal following is the envy of many established stars of the motion picture firmament, has turned his talents to comedy, for once, with just as great success as has attended all of his more serious offerings.

"Why Men Leave Home" is a comedy of married life, with the humor arising from the complications which John Stahl's nearest of his wife brings about. So rapid is the course of the story that the spectator is treated to three honeymoons in rapid-fire order, with Emerson the party of the first part in each, before the marital complications are straightened out and he vows to treat his wife forever afterward as he did before their marriage.

The Orpheum

"WOMEN WHO GIVE" adapted from that widely-read novel, "Cane and Folk," opened at the Orpheum today. It is an unusually striking story of great dramatic value, exceedingly well directed and enacted by a particularly fine cast.

With the quackery New England coast as a background, Reginald Barker has produced a motion picture that fairly tingles with romance, drama and thrills. Sarah P. McLean Greene's story of seafaring men and the women who await the return of their loved ones with the fishing fleets, is a classic and it is even more absorbing and interesting on the screen than it was as a play and book. Incidentally it is the sort of photodrama that holds interest for everyone, man, woman and child.

Barbara Bedford, Renee Adoree, Robert Fraser, Frank Keenan, Joseph Dowling, Margaret Seldon, John Standing, Victor Potel, Edith Phillips and William Eugene are in the cast. "Women Who Give" is a Reginald Barker production presented by Louis B. Mayer-Metro, adapted by Bernard McConville and J. C. Hawkes, from Sarah P. McLean Greene's novel with scenario by A. P. Younger.

New Treatment for Varicose or Swollen Veins

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at Union Drug Co. and start to rub the veins and bunched at the ankles.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practices and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed. So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, warts and even goitre disappear when used steadily.—Advertisement.

Auto Club Backs Demand Officers Wear Uniforms

Announcement was made here today that the Youngbloods Automobile Club has endorsed the policy adopted by the American Automobile Association, with which it is affiliated, calling attention to the necessity for having all police officers and sheriffs plainly designated by uniform or badge and involved in tolerating the placing of firearms in the hands of irresponsible men with authority to detain drivers for inconsequential infractions of the motor vehicle laws.

This action is said to be the result of a recent Illinois fatality which resulted from the shooting of an automobile driver who failed to stop when held up by the assistant superintendent of mails at Peoria who wore no official uniform or badge visible to the motorist.

The matter has attracted the attention of motorists throughout the country and it is believed that organized car owners will welcome the action taken by the Legislative Board of the American Automobile Association in seeking the cooperation of motor vehicle departments in forestalling similar fatalities. Members of the local club can assist in this work both through support of any bills which the club may elicit to bring before the attention of legislators at the next meeting of the General Assembly and through their automatic membership in the American Automobile Association, it was explained at local headquarters today.

According to Secretary H. G. Dalton of the local club the Illinois motorist gave every evidence of having been held up by a highwayman when the postal official overstepped his authority by shooting at the time when the driver failed to stop. "Every sane motorist wants law enforcement," he declares, "but such enforcement must be above board to be effective and safe."

"We cannot afford to tolerate unsound law enforcement at this stage of motorizing and the 'special' officer must show us that he cannot get away with his man-laugher under guise of the law."

Salts fine for aching kidneys.

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Also we have backache, severe headache, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Little Case Ruled Out by Bishop at M. E. Conference

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—The first day's session of the 101st annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church Wednesday was culminated by a discussion on charges which had been preferred by a former district superintendent against Rev. R. H. Little, pastor of the South Greensburg church. After the debate had waxed warm, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, presiding officer, ruled the matter was out of order inasmuch as it had been finally settled at a meeting of the conference held three years ago.

The ministerial services had just been concluded when Rev. J. N. Cameron, superintendent of the McKeesport District, brought forth the charges against Rev. Little to a woman who had been previously divorced. The charges concerned the marriage of Rev. Little to a woman who had been previously divorced.

The Methodist church is opposed to the marriage of divorced persons, he declared, and the fact that a minister had married a divorced woman was a disgrace to the church.

Facts About Child-birth

It has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, says in this volume, that produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a woman. "I was able to go to work and expand more easily, during the constant readjustment month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth."

WALTER LEES TAKES OPENER IN AIR TOURNEY

By United Press. WILDER, WRIGHT, FLYING FIELD, Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Walter Lees, Wilmington, Del., today piloted his Hartzell SC-1 to a brilliant victory in the National Cash Register Trophy contest, the first event on the international race program.

Lees went into the lead at the start and was never headed. His low horsepower commercial plane swept around the 15 mile course in a streak of color. He completed one lap at the rate of 97.1-10 miles per hour and on three laps averaged 93 miles an hour.

Perry Hutton in a Laird commercial was second, falling far behind when Lees' fast last lap sent the stands cheering wildly.

Kendrick and General Butler Bury Hatchet

By United Press. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Mayor Kendrick and Director of Public Safety Butler have adjusted their differences and harmony was restored in their municipal administration today.

General Butler called on the mayor this morning and was closeted with the city executive for more than half an hour.

"The mayor treated me as I hope someone to be able to treat a subordinate," Butler said, after the conference. His face wreathed in smiles. He refused to comment further.

After the news making Butler at once returned to his home as he was still very weak from an attack of grip.

Old Hotel Burned. FRANKLIN, Oct. 2.—The old McGraw Hotel at Parkers Landing, well known to all, was burned throughout northwestern Pennsylvania, burned to the ground early today.

No Columbus Celebration. No plans have been made for observance of Columbus Day in Connelville. It was said today. There will be celebrations in Uniontown and at Brownsville.

Preparatory Services. Services preparatory to holy communion will be held in Trinity Reformed Church Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Itchy Pimples On Face And Back Cuticura Healed

"For a number of years I was troubled with a breaking out of pimples on my face, back and shoulders. The pimples were hard, large and red, and itched and scaled over. They itched and burned causing me to scratch and irritate the affected parts, and my face was disfigured. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back."

I tried other remedies without success. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. They helped me in a few months and were completely healed." (Signed) Miss Pearl Douglas, R. F. D. 3, Kennett Sq., Pa., Jan. 12, 1923.

Mrs. Rowe Sues J. V. for $30,000

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Seeking to recover $24,500 which she charges she expended for the purchase of coal lands in Cumberland township, Greene county, from Joseph V. Thompson, of Uniontown, who failed to turn over to her legal title to the land, Mrs. Sally Ruston Rowe, with offices in the Calgon Trust building.

Today filed suit in common pleas court for $24,500 against Thompson, included in the amount asked were the sums spent by Mrs. Rowe in attempts to prove the legality of her claim of the land to a common pleas court of Greene county. On November 21, 1914 she alleged she obtained possession of the land and all the underlying coal. F. Laddie claimed prior title to the ground, a 30-acre tract, and the claim was sustained by the court after Mrs. Rowe had brought suit December 31, 1921. Mrs. Rowe is represented by W. L. Hall.

Dunbar Township Will Be At Mount Pleasant Friday; Wants to Score Victory

Neighboring Gridders Are Sent Through Extra-Hard Practice Session.

FOE CONSIDERED WORTHY

The Dunbar Township High School gridgers will clash in their second combat tomorrow afternoon when they meet the strong Mount Pleasant High School eleven at Mount Pleasant. The game is scheduled to get under way at 3:30 o'clock. A delegation is expected to accompany the township squad.

Final preparations for the tilt were completed yesterday when the gridgers went through an extra-hard scrimmage session. Coach M. N. Seaton took great pains in establishing an aerial attack for his boys, as did a defense against the Mount Pleasant attack that helped them to hold Connelville to a tie.

NEW YORK GIANTS INVOLVED IN NEW BASEBALL SCANDAL

Another baseball scandal is looming on the horizon and Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, has expelled Jimmy O'Connell, $75,000 outfielder of the New York Giants, from the world series. The player, it is said, has confessed to offering a $500 bribe to Helme Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, to throw a game between the two teams, the winners of which would mean clinching of the pennant for the Giants.

Gary Dolan, veteran coach on the McGraw staff and a close friend of the manager, is also implicated by O'Connell's confession and has likewise been barred from the big series. Trisch, Groh, Kelly and Young were others mentioned but were exonerated.

The game Sand was asked to throw was played September 27. He spurned the offer and reported the matter to Manager Art Fletcher. Then Commissioner Landis was informed. Landis has indicated his investigation is far from complete.

Gridiron Glimpse. "Jockey" May is resting this week, giving a sore foot a chance to improve. "Doc" Willard seems to be coming along at last. His bad foot is not giving him any trouble and the big boy may soon be worming his way regularly into the line-up.

John Long, who injured his wrist before the opening of football season while in the mountains, reported for practice yesterday. "No tackling yet for you John" was the edict of Coach Lamm, however. The youngster is anxious to get to work. He is a candidate for the center position and feels he will have to hustle to catch up on the team made by his opponents. One of the "morriest" battles for a job is being waged there among O'Donnell, Seaton and Rhoads. The last, however, has broken into the game at times as a guard.

"Buck" Stillwagon says he is going to show a few things the next time he gets into a game. Nowell was "ranked" Saturday after he had allowed Mount Pleasant, lined up behind the line, to carry the ball 28 yards. Other goal, to carry the ball 28 yards into made territory around his end. No one job more pestered about it than he did, however. He was looking for a kick.

Joe Donnadio and Tony Maechi, two backfield candidates, are termed the "twins." Both are little in stature and much in of Italian descent. Both can make themselves felt, however.

"Orky" Angle was getting considerable distance into his pants yesterday. Both he and Trump have improved greatly in this department.

Due to cancellation the Cleveland Panthers, Cleveland's leading heavy-weight road football team, is without a game for Sunday, October 12. Any team wishing to book the Panthers for that date is requested to wire, write or phone terms to George T. Jones, booking manager, Cleveland Panthers, 2672 East 117th street, or phone Garfield 5066 during the day, or in the evening to the same address.

Frank Tarr, who has been changed from end to fullback on the Bethany College eleven, was making a splendid showing in that position when he had his left knee badly wrenched in the final practice before the Salem game. The injury may keep him out of a uniform for the rest of the season. Another second-year man who is being used in this position is Gordon Hanna who was in the game last season and who had the fullback position throughout the most of the Salem game.

County Athletic League Will Be Revived Tonight

A reorganization of the Fayette

County Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be affected at the first meeting of the year to be held this evening in the dining room of the Uniontown Y. M. C. A. The reorganization was to have been effected at Dawson last night but owing to a lack of time was postponed until later. In addition to this reorganization the meeting this evening will take up football and basketball matters. The trophy won by Redstone Township last season is again at stake and will become the property of the team winning the judges' decision at the last of the season.

WASHINGTON BECOMES ALMOST HYSTERICAL WHEN TEAM ARRIVES

Washington, capital of the greatest nation in the world, forgot its dignity yesterday when it extended a welcome home to its conquering heroes, the Washington American League baseball club, which clinched the pennant in that circuit by defeating Boston at Boston. It was Washington's own celebration. Pennsylvania avenue looked like "Main Street," the crowds witnessing the parade not remaining on the curbs but rushing into the street, forming a narrow lane through which the automobiles and marchers had to pass. Police were able to do little to disperse the crowd, mainly because they were too busy cheering themselves. The President extended a greeting to the ball players. At the ball park 10,000 frenzied fans milled about the ticket booths endeavoring to secure pasteboards for the series.

The Truant Soul

By Victor Rousseau
Copyright by W. G. Chas. Co.

Sometimes she felt that Lancaster was beside her, but when at last complete consciousness returned, she found herself lying in a strange house. Through the windows, she could see the outlines of the familiar mountains, shrouded in the red sunset glow against the blue of the sky. Beside her sat a figure which seemed to be so remotely of the past that it was difficult to refrain from laughing at the incongruity of the sight.

It was Jenkins, with his black head. As Joan stirred he turned toward her. "That's right, Miss Wentworth," he said heartily. "Now you've rounded the corner, and I reckon the lane lies straight before you."

"The doctor did not steal that money," murmured Joan weakly. Jenkins laughed as if her words amused him immensely. "Why, Miss Wentworth, you've been saying that to me every time you woke these five days past," he said, "but I couldn't ever get you to tell me how you knew it."

"I don't remember saying it before," said Joan.

"I reckon you've been pretty weak, Miss Wentworth. But tell me now how you know it."

"I don't know. Why, yes, of course I do. Doctor Lancaster couldn't steal anything. Where is he?"

"I'll fetch him, Miss Wentworth. He wants to see you; he's been sitting beside you for days waiting till you really woke up."

"I'm not alarmed, Doctor Jenkins," asked Joan in turn.

"Not the least bit, Miss Wentworth. I'll bring you a mirror."

"No, I take you on trust. What made me so ill, Doctor Jenkins?"

The doctor hesitated. The old obstinate look began to cloud down on his features. But Joan caught him by the arm indignantly.

"Come, now, tell me," she said. "Did he—did he inject morphine into me?"

"No, Miss Wentworth," said Jenkins, unable to hold out. "It wasn't morphine. It was curare—the stuff that paralyzes the motor nerves without destroying consciousness." His face grew somber. "It doesn't leave traces, as morphine does, and that devil had put it into morphine bottles and made the doctor think he was a morphine fiend. They hoped to kill him more quickly, but somehow he got used to it, and I guess they were at their wit's end when you came along. But I'll call the doctor, Miss Wentworth."

When he was gone Joan lay back on her pillows, looking out into the mountains. She knew what had occurred that night; in her drugged state she had seen the whole dreadful picture: Myers unlocking Mrs. Dana's door and leading her to her own room, where she had obtained the revolver; her journey to Lancaster's room, bent on her dreadful mission; the murder of Lancaster, in the room opposite, instead, for reasons which would never be known, but were certainly providential.

She saw further, by the same intuition which told her that it had been Mrs. Dana's body wrapped in the blanket upon the lawn. Myers, knowing her to be drugged, and believing Lancaster dead, had waited in Mrs. Dana's room and given her the matches, on her return, with which to start the fire, hoping thus to make sure of his victims and cover up his tracks. And he had fallen into the trap he had baited. Strong as he was, there must have been a stronger Power fighting him with Mrs. Dana's arms that night, when she turned the key in the lock and left him to die as he had willed Joan should die.

But Joan knew that no word of this would ever pass between Lancaster and her. And indeed, as she lay back and looked across the fields toward the mountains, she felt that something had turned that page, so that it had become not only of the dead past, but unreal in a way, and only the present peace existed.

She heard a quick step without. Lancaster stood in the doorway, came toward her, knelt at her side and took her hands in his. And with that even the memories of the past became remote, half forgotten.

"Dear, it has come true," he said tenderly.

She lay happily in his arms, looking out all the time toward the sunset on the hills. There was no little joy, because their lives were only beginning.

"I don't want to go back to Avonmouth," she said at length.

"Nor I, Joan. This is our country," he said always he was our country. But—the light, Joan?"

"I have stolen a march on you, my dear," he answered gravely. "I have fought out my fight while you were still in the hospital; no, I have resigned from the hospital; no, I have resigned anything there; and I have convinced the trustees here, by my appearance, and by the possession of certain papers happily discovered after the fire, that I am a responsible, moral person, honest enough to head the new institute which we are going to build—guess where?"

She looked at him. Then—

"That village in the mountains," she cried happily. "Where our lives really began. I could not wish for anything better."

"And the patient is going to be our center. And Doctor Jenkins will be house surgeon, resident, with his wife, Joan, he didn't tell you about Mrs. Fraser? Jenkins! Jenkins!" His voice rang through the little house. Come in at once and face the fire like a man, instead of slinking away into your consulting room, you villain, young Benedict!"

ORDER ARMORED CARS FOR MAIL

Government, Alarmed at $2,075,000 Raid in West, Takes Precautions.

New York.—As a precaution against any recurrence anywhere in the United States of a mail train robbery such as the spectacular hold-up near Chicago on June 12 last, by which $2,075,000 in money and bonds was stolen, the Post Office department has developed a specially designed mail car, armored heavily to withstand assaults and equipped with numerous protective devices.

The Post Office department has constructed for 3,000 such cars. One has already been delivered. This car has been with the approval of inspectors and, if the requirements of the government, it is understood, will proceed with the contract for the full order of 3,000.

Though the Post Office department had for some time been contemplating an improved type of mail car, it was when the Chicago hold-up occurred, committed in daring fashion against a crew of 70 mail employees, that the department decided to rush matters and hasten the production of the cars.

Eight robbers, riding in four automobiles, on the night of June 12 held up a mail train, 12 miles north of Chicago, a special mail train on the tracks of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. Gun bombs were used. Forty pouches of mail were taken.

Fearful More Such Attacks.

The complete success of the robbery, during which the government had been expecting that a new type of car must be produced immediately, lest other gangs make similar and possibly equally successful attacks.

The government is said to have obtained some of its ideas for the new car from the effective protection given by the new types of steel express boxes, a number of which are placed on flat cars in such position that they cannot be tampered with without being removed. These are heavily plated and tests have proved these plates strong enough to ward off bullet fire.

For a long time the Post Office department has been apprehensive about mail train robberies. Losses have run as high as $8,000,000 in one year, to say nothing of the killing and wounding of clerks and guards. The robbery at one time was so persistent that a reward of $5,000 was offered by Will Flays, then postmaster general, for the capture of a mail robber. The award of $2,000 to the Orange, N. J., mail clerk who killed a robber on a railroad station platform, was an example of the anxiety of the department and its readiness to show appreciation of such acts.

The authorities recognize that train holdups are not haphazard adventures of reckless criminals, but are the result of carefully planned and frequently rehearsed details, sometimes laid down in cities far from the scene of the proposed robbery and often involving many participants. Because of the precision of these plans and the knowledge of the robbers of the movements of trains, their usual stopping places for water and other details, the government investigators have undertaken to combat these conspiracies with protective measures designed to meet any emergency.

Killed in Elevator Beside His Mother

New York.—Fourteen-month-old Harry Rosenbluth of 940 Simpson street, the Bronx, only recently learned to toddle, and he stood with unsteady legs as his mother, Mrs. Molly Rosenbluth, led him into the elevator to go to their home on the second floor. Mrs. Rosenbluth let him stand beside William Streetman, the elevator operator, and she had just turned to look into a mirror in the back of the elevator when the car started upward.

The baby tumbled forward and tried to grasp the legs of Streetman's trousers, but missed. He was caught between the floor of the elevator and the upper section of the first-floor door. Although the operator quickly stopped the car and Mrs. Rosenbluth grabbed the child to her breast, he was taken to Lincoln hospital in such a serious condition that he died before he could be attended by a physician. His skull was fractured, it was said.

Working Conditions As Well As Income Of American Women Are Best In World

HOWEVER, THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, NOTABLY ITS WOMEN WORKERS, IS PLANNING STILL GREATER STRIDES TO CARRY OUT PLEDGE

This is the first of a series of five articles by Mrs. Alvin T. Hest, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, and chairman of the Women's Division of that committee. Mrs. Hest discusses what she considers vital campaign issues from the women's standpoint.

BY MRS. ALVIN T. HEST

Mrs. Alvin T. Hest

The women of the United States work at higher wages and under better conditions than do women anywhere else in the world.

Our government is not content with providing better conditions than any other country for its women workers. It is working constantly to improve these conditions.

President Coolidge struck deep into the heart of American ideals when he said: "Childhood and motherhood, cherished, honored, rescued from the grasp of all selfishness and rededicated to the noblest aspirations of the race, are the mark of the advancing American civilization which it is our solemn duty to maintain."

Two million married women are in industry in this country to-day. The majority of these women are actual bread-winners. In a study made one factory town by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor it was found that 73 per cent of the bread-winning women had children and that three-fourths of these women had children who were less than six years old.

A home study of 500 of these wage-earning mothers showed that about one-fifth were toiling at night and looking after their children during the day.

Burdens of the Women's Bureau have revealed that some types of married women in industry gain far more than they lose by going into industry within others.

Usually the night working mothers and mothers of little children whose threat of the loss of their proper care, loss of measurably more.

The Republican party took this vital fact into consideration in its national platform. According to this platform, "there is no success in the home without the employment of women in the home under conditions which will impair their natural functions."
